AI, my future and the Bible

What makes humans unique – and what future does God have for them?

AI solves complex maths problems, develops software and designs technical components. Increasingly, it can complete in seconds tasks that we spend years learning to do. Will we soon become redundant? Does a bleak future await us?

The Bible presents a very different perspective: God created human beings in His image and gave them a calling that no machine can fulfil.

What does the Bible say about AI, and what does that mean for your future? Come along and find out.
